Uniform Crime Report State of Mississippi

ANNUAL REPORT
January - December 1981

Compiled by Criminal Justice Planning
Uniform Crime Reporting Division
Jackson, Mississippi

This report was published through financial assistance provided by the Bureau of Justice Statistics, U.S. Department of Justice. Points of view or opinions stated in this report do not necessarily represent the official position on policies of the U.S. Department of Justice.

FOREWORD

The primary source for the data presented in this report is the local sheriff or police department. The Mississippi Uniform Crime Reporting Division of the Governor's Office of Criminal Justice Planning wishes to express its appreciation for the conscientious efforts by each agency participating in the program.

The participation and interest in the Uniform Crime Reporting program have continued to grow in Mississippi, as local law enforcement agencies have become aware of the benefits of accurate crime data in operational management, crime analysis, and budgetary operations. The Uniform Crime Reporting staff anticipates providing additional information in future publications regarding cost data and arrest data. It is expected that as our data processing capabilities are expanded the Uniform Crime Reporting Division will be able to provide more detailed crime analysis to benefit the contributing agencies, as well as the general population, in presenting an accurate picture of the crime problem within the State of Mississippi.

INTRODUCTION

The Uniform Crime Reporting program in Mississippi is a means to analyze the nature and extent of crime in the state, and to measure progress toward the reduction of crime through comprehensive, accurate, and timely criminal justice information.

Uniform law enforcement statistics were first collected in 1930 through the cooperation of the International Association of Chiefs of Police, and, later the National Sheriff's Association. Congress authorized the FBI to serve as the national clearinghouse for statistical information on crime and since 1930 the FBI, through the UCR Program, has collected and compiled data for use in law enforcement administration, operation, and management, as well as to indicate the fluctuations in the level of crime in America.

In 1980 a statewide program patterned after the federally administered UCR program was begun by the Governor's Office of Criminal Justice Planning. Crime statistics are submitted monthly by participating law enforcement agencies using the standardized UCR definitions. Intended as a means to classify similar offenses to compensate for variances of definitions from state to state, the classifications are not legal definitions of a case. They may, in fact, differ considerably from the Mississippi Criminal Code definition.

The primary purpose of Mississippi's Uniform Crime Reporting program is to provide reliable data analyses that define the nature and extent of the crime problem for use by state and local officials, program planners, and criminal justice personnel. The compiled analyses are also intended as a reference for the general public and other professionals to assess the crime problem in Mississippi.

SUMMARY OF CRIME IN MISSISSIPPI, 1981

Presented in the following report is an analysis of crime as reported through the State's Uniform Crime Reporting program. This report focuses on the Part I offenses or index crimes that were reported during calendar year 1981. Trends since 1973 are presented in order to provide a better understanding of the changes in crime over time. In other words, is reported crime increasing, decreasing, or merely remaining at a constant level.

For purposes of understanding this report, there are a few basic facts that must be understood prior to examing the data. First, the UCR program concerns itself with the occurrence of only Part I offenses. The following crime classifications are considered Part I offenses because of their seriousness and frequency of occurrence:

Violent Crimes	Property Crimes
(1) Murder	(5) Burglary
(2) Rape	(6) Larceny Theft
(3) Robbery	(7) Motor Vehicle Theft
(4) Assault

Arson has been added as the eighth index crime, however, due to questions of validity of data, arson is not analyzed in this report.

When more than one Part I offense occurs at the same time by a person or group of persons the Hierarchy Rule is used requiring only the highest offense on the list to be counted and ignoring all others. Another rule for reporting UCR data is scoring the number of crimes by the following procedures:

(1) One offense is scored for each victim for incidents of crimes against persons (murder, rape and assault).

(2) One offense is scored for each distinct operation for incidents of crimes against property (robbery, burglary, and larceny theft). Motor vehicle theft is an exception to this rule counting one offense for each vehicle stolen.

This manner of classifying and scoring offenses can have the effect of modifying the number of offenses reported by a law enforcement agency as compared to their own agency records. Still, the use of standardized definitions and classification and scoring procedures provide for uniform reporting throughout the fifty states allowing for a national picture of crime and comparisons between contributors.

In order to provide a better overview of crime in Mississippi the following report focuses on those 79 agencies that reported for all twelve months of 1981. The FBI provides estimates for the whole state. These estimates are used for examining trends for the state as a whole, however, for monthly analysis by crime classification only the 79 complete agencies are used.

Following the initial analysis by crime classification, individual agency reports are provided for all law enforcement agencies covered under the state UCR program, indicating the number of months each agency reported.

Finally, information gathered from both the UCR program and the Board on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Training is presented regarding the number of law enforcement officers employed full-time during 1981. Statistical breakdowns are provided on the number of reported cases of officers killed or assaulted in the line of duty.

ANALYSIS OF INDEX CRIMES

Analysis of Index Crimes

In 1981 79 agencies reported for all 12 months. Table I shows the breakdown both by number of cases and percentage. As you can see, for these agencies burglaries and larcenies account for over 85% of reported offenses. The pie chart, following Table I, is based on the 1981 estimated totals for Mississippi as prepared by the FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting section. As you can see, the percentages represented by each offense type is quite similar to the 79 agency breakdown. Therefore it is considered that the agencies reporting for all twelve months of 1981 provide an accurate picture of crime in Mississippi.

Since 1973 Mississippi has experienced an increase in its Part I offenses. Only in 1978 was there a slight decrease in the total number of offenses estimated for Mississippi. Examining the violent and property offenses a somewhat different picture is presented. Violent offenses reveal a major downturn from 1974 to 1977 when the trend started upward. From 1980 to 1981, however, there was a -10.9 per cent change. Property crimes, on the other hand, continued upward except for 1978. Overall, because Mississippi's crime problem is dominated by property offenses (burglary, larceny, and motor vehicle theft), the fluctuation in the violent offenses does very little to affect the overall crime picture.

In the following section there will be presented individual analysis by crime classification of the Part I offences. Trends for the state as a whole since 1973, and for the months of 1981 for the 79 complete agencies are provided in order to give a better understanding of Mississippi's crime picture.

Violent Crimes

The Violent Crime Index is made up of murder, rape, robbery, and aggravated assaults. In reporting offenses under the UCR program, the submitting agency utilizes what is commonly referred to as the hierarchy rule. Stated briefly, this means that if more than one offense occurred at the same time or in continuous sequence, only the most serious offense would be reported, e.g. - if a convenience store manager was killed during a robbery, then only the murder would be reported. This hierarchy rule is helpful in insuring that there is some standardization to the reporting system, however, as one can see, a large number of offenses are left out, in this case the robbery remains uncounted.

Violent crimes, even though serious in nature and having a major impact on the victim and the victim's family, only account for 8% of Mississippi's crime for 1981. Aggravated assaults and robberies accounted for 87.3% of the total violent offenses. Since 1973 violent offenses have shown a rather sporatic trend with peaks occurring in both 1974 and 1980. Because of these trends it is difficult to develop appropriate crime deterrent methods. In order to better understand violent crime in Mississippi a brief analysis is provided for murder, rape, robbery, and aggravated assault. The data is provided for the FBI's estimates since 1973 and for the 79 complete agencies by month for 1981.

Property Crimes

Property Crimes, comprised of burglary, larceny, and motor vehicle theft account for approximately 91.39% of total crime reported in Mississippi, These three crimes lend themselves to various crime prevention techniques such as neighborhood crime watch programs and target hardening. From 1980 to 1981 Mississippi's property crime increased approximately 5%. Even with the problems Mississippi faces with property crimes the state still only ranked 47th compared to the other states for 1981.

Criminal Homicide:

Murder and Non-neglient Manslaughter:

The willful, non-negligent killing of one person by another. Excludes attempts or assaults to kill (classified as aggravated assault), suicide, and accidental deaths. The killing of a felon by a private citizen or the killing of a felon by a police officer in the line of duty are considered justifiable homicides by UCR and are excluded from this court.

Murders, for the most part, are reported to law enforcement agencies. Generally, murder also has a high clearance rate which result in actual arrests. For 1981 the FBI estimated 319 murders for Mississippi. This was a decline from 1980 where 365 were counted. Mississippi has experienced a high incidence of murder compared to its population size. In 1981 Mississippi ranked 8th in the United States for its number of murders per 100,000 population with a rate of 12.6.

Examining the trend over the past 9 years since 1973, Mississippi's incidence of murder has actually fallen with an average percent change of .82 percent. Close examination of the data, as presented in the following graph, shows that the number of murders fluctuates - certain years having increases over the previous year and others having a marked decline. Basically, one can see from this data that murder is relatively unpredictable. Over these 9 years the average number was 324 with the lowest year being 1976 with 294 reported murders.

From the data reported by the 79 complete agencies, the following fact can be found - murder is unpredictable. Each month was unrelated to the month prior or following. January was high with a total of 28 murders with June being low with only 9 reported. For these agencies, a total 201 murders were reported. These agencies accounted for 63% of all murders reported for Mississippi.

Rape:

The carnal knowledge of a female through the use of force or the threat of force. Assaults to commit forcible rape are also included; however, statutory rape (without force) is not counted in this category.

During 1981 658 rapes were estimated for Mississippi. This reflected a 6.3 percent increase over 1980. Since 1973 the number of rapes has increased at an average rate of 7.15 percent. Similar to murder, the incidence of rape appears to be unpredictable. However, during the last two years the number of rapes reported to the police has increased by 18.35 and 6.30 percent. These increases, however, may be reflective of changes in the attitude of women to report rapes, particularly those committed by close friends or associates. For 1981 Mississippi ranked 32nd among the 50 states in regard to the number of rapes per 100,000 population with a rate of 26.0.

The monthly trend for rape is somewhat erratic with no true pattern being discernible. The number of rapes peaked in August with declines occurring in both July and September. The month with the lowest number of reported rapes was April.

Robbery:

The taking or attempting to take anything of value from the care, custody, or control of a person by force or threat of force and/or by putting the victim in fear.

During 1981 2,059 robberies were estimated for Mississippi. This reflected a 1.2 percent increase over 1980. Since 1973 the number of robberies has increased at an average rate of 8.77 percent. As one can see from the following chart, robbery has increased each year since 1973. Examining robbery for the 79 complete agencies, no specific monthly trend can be developed.

For the first 4 months of 1981 the number of robberies reported fell. However, starting in June the number of robberies rose with December the highest month for 1981. For 1981 Mississippi ranked 36th among the 50 states in regard to the number of robberies per 100,000 population with a rate of 81.4.

Aggravated Assault:

The unlawful attack by one person upon another for the purpose of inflicting severe bodily injury usually accompanied by the use of a weapon or other means likely to produce death or serious bodily harm. Attempts are included since it is not necessary that an injury result when a gun, knife or other weapon is used which could and probably would result in serious personal injury if the crime were successfully completed. Attacks using personal weapons (part of the attacker's body) must result in serious personal injury to be classified as aggravated assault. Simple assaults are excluded from this count.

During 1981 4,670 aggravated assaults were estimated for Mississippi. This reflected a 16.1 decrease over 1980. Since 1973 the number of aggravated assaults has declined at an average rate of 2.43 percent. Mississippi experienced its lowest number of aggravated assaults for the 9 year period in 1977 with 4,517. Again, in 1981 the number was low. Like other violent offenses, assaults are both difficult to predict or to prevent. For 1981 Mississippi ranked 33rd among the 50 states in regard to the number of aggravated assaults per 100,000 population with a rate of 184.6.

During 1981, aggravated assaults experienced extreme variances in monthly totals. However, the number of reported aggravated assaults began to increase in April and continued to climb through July. The lowest number of assaults were recorded in February.

Burglary:

The unlawful entry of a "structure" to commit a felony or theft. The use of force to gain entry is not required to classify the crime as burglary. Burglary is broken down into three subclassifications, forcible entry, unlawful entry where no force is used, and attempted forcible entry.

A "structure" is considered to include the following, but not limited to: dwelling houses, apartments, out buildings, public buildings, offices, factories, barns, cabins, etc.

During 1981 29,614 burglaries were estimated for Mississippi. This reflected an increase of .01 percent over 1980. Since 1973 the number of burglaries has increased at an average rate of 10.91 percent. For 1981 Mississippi ranked 36th among the 50 states in regard to the number of burglaries per 100,000 population with a rate of 1170.5.

The number of burglaries reported peaked in July for 1981. January, August and December were also high. This may possibly be related to the fact that many people are away on vacation during these months and therefore, are more likely to be victimized.

Larceny:

The unlawful taking or stealing of property or articles without the use of force, violence, or fraud. This includes crimes such as shoplifting, purse snatching, pocket picking, thefts from motor vehicles, thefts of motor vehicle parts and accessories, bicycle thefts, etc. This crime category does not include embezzlement, "con" games, forgery, and worthless checks. Motor vehicle theft is excluded from this category in as much as it is a separate Part 1 offense.

During 1981 47,587 larcenies were estimated for Mississippi. This reflected a 10.3 increase over 1980. Since 1973 the number of larcenies has increased at an average rate of 11.7 percent. For 1981 Mississippi ranked 49th among the 50 states in regard to the number of larcenies per 100,000 population with a rate of 1880.9.

In 1981, the number of larcenies appeared to be greatest between June and September with the peak occurring in August. The lowest level of larceny activity occurred in February.

Motor Vehicle Theft:

The unlawful taking or stealing of a motor vehicle, including attempts. This definition excludes taking for temporary use by those persons having lawful access to the vehicle.

UCR defines a motor vehicle as a self-propelled vehicle that runs on the ground and not on rails. Examples include automobiles, trucks, buses, motorcycles, mopeds, snowmobiles, etc. Thefts of farm and/or construction equipment, boats, and airplanes are not included in this category but are counted as larcenies.

During 1981 4,588 were estimated for Mississippi. This reflected a 2.4 increase over 1980. However, this increase was negative compared to the increases for the previous 4 years. Since 1973 the number of motor vehicle thefts has increased at an average rate of 7.6 percent. Examining the monthly totals reveals that the warmer months - May through August - have the highest number of motor vehicle thefts. This may be a result of people being on vacation or else leaving their car windows down when they are not with their automobiles. For 1981 Mississippi ranked 48th among the 50 states in regard to the number of motor vehicle thefts per 100,000 population with a rate of 181.3.
